

In Safe Hands KANPEKI Year Six

The theme In Safe Hands was built around a single truth. Every stage of KANPEKI's journey had been made possible by real people whose care and commitment sustained the brand. From the inception of the product formula to the factory teams who fill and pack each item, to those who sell it in stores and salons and the professionals who apply it with trust and skill to customers across the country.

This activation was a tribute to each of them. Three hundred and fifty individuals who had contributed to the brand in any capacity were invited to share their real handprints. These were not symbolic or abstract. These were actual prints taken from the hands that made the journey possible. The design placed these at the heart of the environment, as an expression of belonging, resilience and care.

Used safe, washable ink and digitised each print for visual consistency.

Celebrated every handprint as a symbol of care, craft, and community.
